

FOOD & FAITH: A DIALOGUE BETWEEN MUSLIMS AND JEWS

Monday, January 30, 2017 from 6:30-8:30 PM

Arnold Hall, 96 Wentworth Street
Charleston, SC 29424

Join Muslim and Jewish students and community members for an informal exploration of cultural and religious points of contact. Enjoy tasty samples of traditional Jewish and Muslim dishes while learning about commonalities between the dietary laws of Halal and Kashrut. Breakout groups will discuss issues beyond food, including Jewish and Muslim practices of prayer, pilgrimage, clothing, holy days, scripture, and charity. Local Rabbi Michael Davies, Charleston Imam Abdel Majid, and College of Charleston Chair of Religious Studies Elijah Siegler guide this important dialogue.

Free admission, all are welcome!

Co-sponsored by the College of Charleston Department of Religious Studies, Yaschik/Arnold Jewish Studies Program, Jewish Student Union/Hillel, Arabic Club, Charleston Jewish Community Center Without Walls, and the Christian-Jewish Council of Greater Charleston.

For more information, contact Elijah Siegler at SieglerE@cofc.edu